INDIANA MEN INTERESTED IN LEGISLATION.

SHELBY ACTIVITIES

of The Indianapolis News] HATTIESBURG, Miss., February &. Several efficiency boards have been in session in Camp Shelby in the last few days and some minor officers have had a chance to resign before their resignations were requested. No higher officers, since Colonel Thomas R. Coulter resigned, have been before any of the boards, but it is reported that some are to be examined soon. It also is reported that there may be some trials by court-martial, although names of the defendants have not been made public.

The efficiency boards, since the Frey-ermuth episode, have exercised more care. As a result it is believed that examination by a board no longer means certain dismissal. A chance is given the officer.

the officer.

The Indiana soldiers are following a bill before the congress that is designed to act as a check on these efficiency boards. This bill provides that where an officer has been found inefficient, and an officer has been found inefficient, and his resignation received, he shall have a chance to attend one of the training camps and earn a rank according to his ability. The theory of the bill is that sometimes a man who is inefficient in the first rank may be highly efficient in another grade. A soldier may be competent as a licutenant although he was a failure as captain or major. An inefficient colonel may be a very efficient major.

inefficient colones may be a very encient major.

The Indiana troops are impressed with the bill, as they feel that there is a determination on the part of some of the regular army men at Washington
to hamper the national guard as much as possible in order that regular army officers may have the ranking positions
in national guard organizations.

Extra Pay Cut Off. Company F, Gary, 151st infantry, has

in its ranks many men who were em ployed at the steel mills in Gary. When these men enlisted they received their wages, ranging in amounts from $6 to $15 a day. Consequently, Company F was the only indiana organization here that always had money. Times have changed now, because the steel company has cut off their pay. The last month they got paid was December, and since that time they have been just about as hard up as the other soldiers between pay days. Every man and officer in the company, however, took out a $10,000 policy, and fifteen of them had no other leneficiary than themselves. Harry Jennings, a business man of Newcastle, is here to visit his son, Lieutenant Daniel H. Jennings, Battery C, 137th field artillery. Lieutenant Jennings is one of the reserve officers who accepted a commission in the former national guard, and has made so good that several other organizations have asked for him. Colonel Robert L. Moorhead, commander of the 139th field artillery, has left the officers' training school at Ft. Sam Houston, and is at Ft. Sill, Okla. He will return to his command in a few weeks.

Captain Arthur B. Cray, Battery C, Monticello. 137th field artillery, and Captain Ernest F. Chenoweth, Winchester, adjutant of the 139th field artillery, left last night for Ft. Sill, Okla. to attend the school of fire.

Mrs. James Escott and Mrs. Harry Wagner, of Ft. Wayne, who are here visiting relatives with the 113th engineers, have gone to Gulfport for a few days.

In all parts of camp the declaration, "We won't forget the Tuscania when we get over," was heard.

Several Indiana women are in Hattesburg and at the squaw camp because of relatives at Camp Shelby. When word of the sinking of the transport reached them they were perturbed. Many of them said this was the first time that the war had come so close to them and that they dread the day when their boys would have to cross the water. But not one of them expressed a wish that their boys remain behind. There never was a more loyal lot of mothers and wives and sisters. Every enlisted man and every officer in the 13th field signal battalion took out a $10,000 war insurance policy.

"I doubt if there is a battalion in the country," declared Major Hill, the battallon commander, "that has such a record. I have heard of battalions that were going to do it, but I have no reports from any that have done it."
